STATE OF MAINE VOTES FOR LIQUOR

ernors' Conference to-morrow expressed widely divergent views upon the result. Said Governor Emmet O'Neal, of Alabama:

"I am delighted to hear that Maine has gone 'wet.' We had the same fight in Alabama in 1909, which I led against putting prohibition in the State Constitution. As the result of our victory we have disposed of the problem in an excellent manner."

Governor Albert W. Gilchrist, of Florida: "It appears that prohibition waves sweep the country about every twenty-five years. In 1855 or 1856 the New England States went 'dry.' Maine got it into her Constitution, and could not get it out. Later the Northwest and the South experienced the same change. Now comes the reflex action, the one that will put the 'proh-bassee' out of business. My definition for a 'proh-bassee' is a man who, while taking a drink himself, does not want to see any one else take anything but stomach bitters or not drink."

Governor Robert S. Vessey, of South Dakota: "I regret very much that Maine has taken a backward step." Governor A. J. Poppler, of Rhode Island: "I am not surprised. When I last saw Governor Plaisted, of Maine, a close friend of mine, he told me that he was going to try to do what he has seemingly done. I am not surprised at his success."

Miss Ware said to-day: "There are lots of hardships in this life, especially for a woman. One works awfully hard—nobody knows just how hard except those behind the scenes, and then afterward there is only a hotel to return to, and no matter how nice it may be, you can't get away from the hotel atmosphere."

"Then the mental strain is terrible, almost more than physical. I have got to the point where I shouldn't mind at all getting out of it."

"A woman—a real woman—wants more than this—she wants a home. I want to get married and have children. And I am going to have them some day, too, if I have to adopt a couple."

DOG'S NOSE FOR FINANCE
Tarrytown, N. Y., September 11.—W. A. Towner, prescription clerk in a drug store here, owns a bird dog that he says is a financier.

Yesterday Mr. Towner went to his home in Brewster and he took along a new dog collar and chain. The dog was delighted with the presents, and to show its appreciation it ran out into the yard and began digging under an old tree.

Mr. Towner watched and was amazed when the dog brought up two silver dollars, and with its teeth passed them to him. It was the exact amount he paid for the collar and chain. Mr. Towner was puzzled as to where the dog got the money, but remembered on former visits he used to throw nickels and pennies in the air for the dog to catch. He believes that the dog kept some of the change, and when he had enough exchanged the coins for the two silver dollars.

MRS. GERAGHTY OWN COOK

Her Husband Likes Her Meals—Elopers Are Happy in Newport.

Newport, September 11.—John Geraghty, who sells auto supplies, has tripled his business since he returned with his bride from Springfield last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Geraghty are settled in their Everett Street cottage. They are as happy as two turtle doves. They did not want for company.

Mrs. Geraghty, who was Julia French, is cooking all the meals, and they are pleased to the young husband, who is fast winning the admiration of the people on the other side of the social boundary line.

Presents for Mr. and Mrs. Geraghty are being delivered at their home without the identity of the senders. Included in the gifts are a pair of diamond earrings set in small pearls, Silverware, carpets and other gifts have been received since the couple started housekeeping last week.

OFFICER DROWNS WITH GIRL

Ballantine's Heroic Attempt to Save Mary Morgan in Storm at Sea.

Philadelphia, September 11.—Attempt to save the life of a girl passenger caused the death of A. H. Ballantine, third officer of the Allan Line steamer Victoria, from Liverpool, which docked here yesterday.

From accounts given by members of the crew, it appears that the girl, Mary Morgan, of St. John, N. B., was last seen alive at the aft rail of the ship on the night of August 30. The ship was tossing in deep seas, and Miss Morgan had a death grip on the rail. Officer Ballantine, who saw her plight, it is believed, made a desperate effort to reach the girl, when the ship gave a terrific lurch, and the suppo-

STRUCK BY TRAIN, INSTANTLY KILLED

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Spencer, N. C., September 11.—A peculiar accident occurred on the Spencer yard last night, when Edwin Winn, a young car inspector, met instant death by being struck by two trains. He was inspecting cars on the yard, and in attempting to get out of the way of a switch engine he crossed the main line in front of train No. 43, which struck him, throwing him over on the northbound main line in front of train No. 48, the fast mail, which was running at a rapid rate, the train running over him, severing one hand and one foot. It is thought by eye-witnesses that he was blinded by the two powerful electric headlights and could not tell which track the trains were on. No. 43 is thought to have given him the blow that caused his death, his skull being crushed. At the place of the accident there are about fifteen tracks, and the two trains were passing and both were running at a rapid rate.

The body was taken in charge by an undertaker from Salisbury and prepared for shipment to his home in Gloster. Miss Mr. Winn is the nephew of Yard Master J. A. Morton, of Spencer. His parents reside in Gloster.

LOST THEIR LIVES IN FLOOD

Woman Returns to House for Purse and Farmer Tries to Save Horse.

Tyrons, Pa., September 11.—The cloudburst and rain storm in the Bald Eagle Valley caused the death of Mrs. Rebecca J. Hinkle in this town and John Scruders, a Spruce Creek farmer. Mrs. Hinkle occupied apartments in a seed store, which fell into Bald Eagle Creek. She had left the house when its destruction was threatened, but returned to recover her purse. When the crash came she was swept away. Her body was found to-day entangled in driftwood near Birmingham.

Scruders, seeing that the rapidly rising waters were swamping his barn, hastened to get his horse out, and while in the building it was swept away. Scruders's body was found to-day near Huntingdon Furnace.

The damage in Tyrons will reach many thousands of dollars. All the bridges between Tyrons and Warrior's Mark, a distance of ten miles, were carried off their piers. The Tyrons gas and water system was put out of service. The famous fish hatcheries at Spruce Creek, maintained by the State, are a total loss.
